Art and Anxiety

Mahmoud Pakniat, Mahvash Sabr Kon, Katayoon Riahi, Amir Askari, Hossein Fadaei Hossein, Davoud Kianian, Saeed Soltani, Rahim Norouzi, Manouchehr Akbarlou, Iraj Rad, Kaveh Moghaddam

1Cinema House, Tehran, Iran.
2Kish Mehr Katayoun(Komak) Center, Kish, Iran.
3Clinical Psychology Department, Social Welfare and Rehabilitation Sciences University, Tehran, Iran.
4Theater House, Tehran, Iran.
5Theater House, Teacher Training Centers, Tehran, Iran.
6Exceptional Children Psychology Department, Faculty of Art and Humanities, University of Sciences & Researches, Tehran, Iran.

Published: 1 Oct, 2014

Abstract

The objective of this session is to identify that how films, movies and TV series can affect on anxiety level of the audiences. In this session, actors, directors, and psychologists are going to discuss about the role of TV series, films and their contents on decreasing or increasing of anxiety and the importance of “identification” between audiences and actors or actresses.

Keywords: Art, TV, Anxiety, Psychotherapy, Psychoanalysis.

*Corresponding Author: Kaveh Moghaddam
Email: kaveh_m_2000@yahoo.com